These are the outward signs of the passage of time—the lengthened shadows on the face of the dial, the darkening streaks down the sides of a building, the ticking of a clock, the running of sand in an hourglass. Time is not only the measure of life, but also its medium. Together this measure and medium give meaning to the individual in direct proportion to the way in which they are used—in involvement with people and work, with thoughts and feeling. We, the students of Pfeiffer College, spend our years here finding ourselves in others, becoming aware of the timelessness in ourselves, learning the truth in Edward Young's challenge, "Time wasted is existence; used is life," and seeking to answer the query of an old sundial inscription, "Now, or when?"

NOW, there is time for friends and enjoyment

for relaxation and laughter . . .

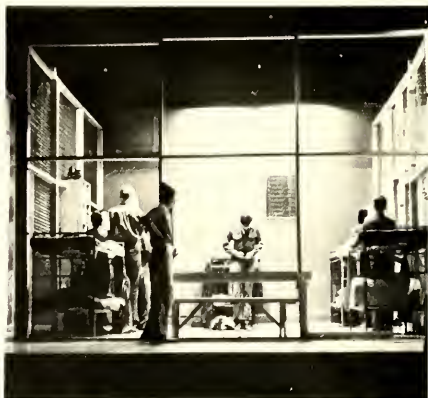

for entertainment, enrichment . .

Since Time for its duration depends on the rote of thought and feeling, we look to the arts to enhance Time's value. In viewing an art exhibit; in watching Franz Reydens, the Iberian Dance Theatre, or The Brig; in listening to a concert we find a more meaningful membership in the community of experience.

Occasions for leaving, and for a question, "When will you be back?"

We leave Pfeiffer for a weekend, for a holiday, or we leave because we graduate; but we take with us the people, events, insights, and memories that have become a part of us. Past time becomes a fusion of experiences that have changed us and prepared us for a greater depth of exchange with our worlds. Just as entrance to Pfeiffer is a preface to growth and learning, so leaving also becomes a prologue rather than a finality

THE

Again, and always, comes this question, "Where do I find myself and my meaning projected against Time?" Perhaps there is no final solution, but there is help from the wisdom of such people as Boris Pasternak who wrote in Doctor Zhivago, "What is it about you that you have always known as yourself? You in others—this is your soul. This is what you are. This is what your consciousness has breathed and lived on and enjoyed throughout your life—your soul, your immortality, your life in others. And what now? You have always been in others and you will remain in others. And what does it matter to you if later on that is called your memory? This will be you—the you that enters the future and becomes a part of it."

CHIMES 1966

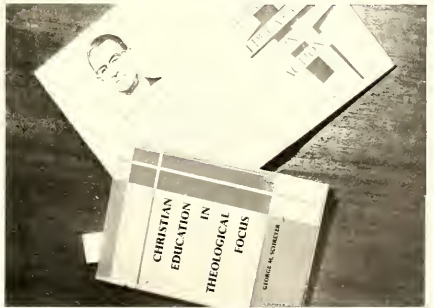

Dr. Schreyer as professor, committee member, author, counselor, minister, and individual.

Dialogue is an important theological concept. Its many connotations include the idea of meaningful interchange with one's Creator as well as one's human brothers. For Dr. George M. Schreyer, dialogue is the way to a vital, searching, honest Christianity.

A recognized author, he received degrees from Wofford College, Duke University, and Boston University. Dr. Schreyer is married and has a teen-age daughter, Joy.

He does not allow himself or his students to be satisfied with half-answers. For this dialogue of concern and inspiration we dedicate the 1966 Chimes to Dr. George M. Schreyer, Chairman of the Division of Religion and Philosophy.

ADMINISTRATION

Responsibility for the physical expansion, development of higher scholastic standards, and the creation of a good name for an academic institution rests heavily upon its president. Since coming to Pfeiffer College in July, 1953, Dr. J. Lem Stokes, II, has evidenced a firm belief in the liberal arts background and has worked to strengthen and perpetuate the ideals for which the college stands.

An ordained Methodist minister and a man of culture and education, Dr. Stokes commands respect and admiration for his dedication to his tasks as President of Pfeiffer College.

Kenneth D. Holshouser
Registrar, Director of Admissions

The administration of Pfeiffer College is a group of distinguished men and women who plan the curriculum of the college and supervise the intellectual growth of each student. The two characteristics which all share are cooperation and dedication. They are always willing to sacrifice their time to help individual students with their personal and academic problems. In conjunction with the faculty, the administration aids the student in planning the liberal arts curriculum he desires to pursue and guides the student in confronting the challenge which became his when he entered college. Many times the students themselves do not realize how many aspects of their daily college lives are results of decisions by administrative officers, on whom falls the task of coordinating the workings of Pfeiffer with the demands of the outside world. The administration's concerns are vast; its duties, numberless; and its positions, complex.

Division of Education teaches students to guide others

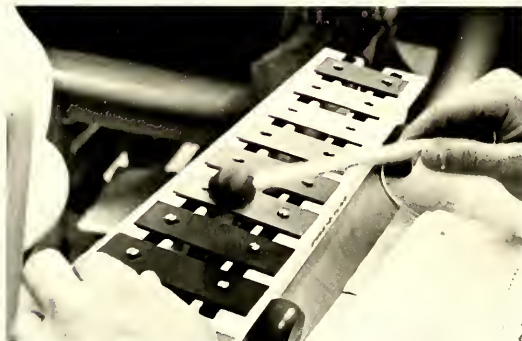

Teacher preparation at Pfeiffer is a concern of the entire faculty, which, with the Division of Education, acting as coordinator, has accepted the challenge that this preparation must produce dedicated and well-trained teachers. Teacher education is designed to develop professionally competent persons who are academically prepared and who understand the responsibilities and procedures of effective teaching. Pfeiffer, certified by the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction as a teacher-training college, offers a major in Elementary Education and a program in Secondary Education.

The Department of Music offers a major in music with emphasis upon Church Music and Music Education. The Speech Department, in conjunction with the English Department, offers a combined English-Drama major. Related studies are offered in Art, Drama, Speech, and Music. The several departments of the division offer activities which allow students individual artistic expression.

Life finds expression in literature and languages

A realization of the power and beauty of literature and language comes to majors in the English Department. English is an especially attractive major for those considering teaching in secondary schools and colleges. It is also good preparation for careers in journalism, scientific and technical writing, law, and the ministry.

The Department of Foreign Languages, with majors in French and German, stresses speaking, reading, and writing proficiency in the language studied.

Economics and Business Administration

As Chairman of the Division, Professor James L. Williams offers guidance as well as instruction for his students.

The Division of Economics and Business Administration offers three major programs of study: Economics, Business Administration, and Accounting. Each of the majors places strong emphasis upon development within the student of an understanding of basic patterns of economic thought and of the fundamental principles governing business management and procedures.

An Accounting major equips the student with specialization in the area of design, installation, maintenance, and presentation of financial records. Study in Business Administration is designed to give the student the necessary background for understanding and dealing with the problems which confront the executive in the various aspects of business. The Department of Economics furnishes a basic background in economic thought and method.

The Order of the Sundial sponsors fall dance

Participation and achievement in the four phases of college life—social, religious, cultural, and athletic—are reflected in the outstanding students chosen for membership in The Order of the Sundial. Based on the motto appearing on the Pfeiffer Sundial, "Friendship is like the eternal rays of the sun," the objectives of the Order are to stimulate a wholesome interest in extracurricular activities, to develop citizenship and leadership, and to promote school spirit.

Student Government treasurer, Bob Angley, a junior from Lenior, is a mathematics major. He is past president of the Sophomore Class and served as freshman counselor in Plyler Dormitory.

WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES

Sixteen seniors and juniors from Pfeiffer were selected to the 1965-66 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Those selected for admission to this publication are approved by the central office of Who's Who, which is located in Tuscaloosa, Alabama. After acceptance, the individual biographies and records of each student are published in the national annual. Faculty members, juniors, and seniors nominate members of the junior or senior class. The National Association allotted Pfeiffer seventeen representatives this year, but only sixteen students nominated met the qualifications set up by the Student Government Association.

The purpose of the national honor is to recognize those student leaders who contribute to their college through continual service, academic ability, citizenship, and personal character. Qualifications include having a 2.85 quality point average, participating in three extracurricular activities, not having been found guilty of any offense by the Judicial Board, and not having been previously elected to Who's Who.

Senior Jane Brady from Aberdeen is a sociology major. She has served as president of Rowe Dormitory for two years and also holds an assistantship in the Student Personnel Office.

Karen Cosh, a junior from Monroe, is Editor-in-Chief of the Pfeiffer News. An English major, Karen is a member of the Sundial, past senator, and M.S.M. fellowship chairman.

A senior from Charlotte, Libby Crane, is majoring in elementary education. Libby is a member of the Sundial and has served as secretary of the Junior Class.

Chip Durham from Greensboro, is a senior majoring in business administration. He has served as vice-president of the Men's Student Government Association and is a columnist of the Pfeiffer News.

Senior Sharon Gibson is a biology major from Cloyton. She is the vice-president of the Student Government Association, member of the Sundial, and past-president of Cline Dormitory.

From Cleveland, Jerry Hewitt is a senior majoring in physics. He has served on the Judicial Board for two years and is past vice-president of the Junior Class.

Jim Lawrence is a senior from New Smyrna Beach, Florida and is a pre-ministerial major. He is president of Klufinger Dormitory, president of the Choral Union, and a member of the Sundial.

Junior Ricki Lewallen is a Christian Education major from Winston-Salem. She has been a counselor for two years in Rowe Dormitory and is a member of the Student Union Governing Board.

John Lona is a physical education major from Merchantville, New Jersey. He has been a soccer player for two years and has served as president and past-secretary of the Lettermen's Club.

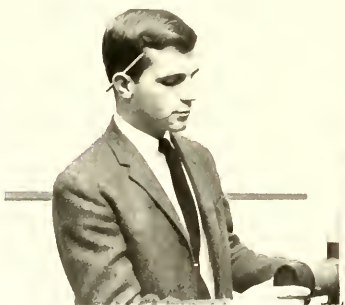

JoElyn McGowan is a senior music major from Misenheimer. She has served as a member of the Christian Life Council and served as president of the Choral Union during her junior year.

Biographical sketches are published in Who's Who

From Yorktown, Virginia, is senior Andy Murphie who is majoring in physics. He is president of Vaughn Dormitory and is post-president of the Freshman Class.

Senior Roy Patton from Clayton serves as president of the Student Government Association. He is past-treasurer and post-senator and is also a member of the Y.D.C.

Carolyn Shore, a senior from Mt. Airy, is majoring in elementary education. She is chief-marshal, past-vice-president of Cline Dormitory, and a member of the Sundiol.

Top scholastic honors for Phi Delta Sigma members

Phi Delta Sigma, a scholastic honor society which encourages talent and intellectual leadership, is composed of distinguished members of the faculty, student body, and alumni. Members of the faculty who are members of Phi Beta Kappa are two-thirds of the initial membership. One-third is chosen from those faculty members who have shown scholarly achievement in the liberal arts. Students who are eligible for nomination are juniors with a grade point ratio of 3.70 and seniors with one of 3.50.

Faculty Members of Phi Delta Sigma are: Miss Georgia Hoswell, Dr. Clyde Robertson, Dr. Nancy McLaurin, Dr. Jahn Haesloop, Mr. Kenneth Holsouser, Dr. Jethro Manly, Dr. Bernard Russell, Dr. George Schreyer, Miss Elizabeth Shaffer, Dr. Horald Stephenson, Dr. J. Alpha Psi Omega honors dramatic ability

Alpha Psi Omega, a member of the Intercollegiate Reciprocal Drama Program, is an honor society consisting of students who have demonstrated outstanding dramatic and technical ability.

Ronnie Wernick, president of Alpha Psi Omega, gained recognition for her roles in Spoon River Anthology and The House of Bernorda Alba. Distinguished performances by other members of the society included Dottie Kennard as Jocasta in a modern adaptation of Oedipus Rex; Robert Byrd in the title role of the same play, Sir Toby portrayed by Wesley Judy, and Maria Stack as Viola, both in Twelfth Night.

Outstanding technical ability was recognized in Jim Jones, as master electrician; in JoElyn McGawan, for her musical direction of Spoon River Anthology and her work with the lights for The Brig; and in Nancy Weber in working with props and stage management.

Sigma Pi Alpha recognizes linguists

The Sigma Pi Alpha Honorary Language Fraternity was organized in 1926 at North Carolina State College, Raleigh. When interest in the organization spread, the fraternity was nationalized in 1928, and other chapters were started in many colleges.

In 1952 petitioners at Pfeiffer College received a charter from national headquarters and established the Sigma Epsilon Chapter. The purpose of the organization is to foster a continued interest in foreign languages and cultures. Students of any foreign language are accepted as members, provided that they meet the standards of linguistic scholarship and interest which the fraternity upholds.

1966 Chimes features new format

Elaine Huneycutt, Editor-in-Chief

Getting a yearbook to press is one of the most hectic jobs undertaken by students. A theme must be decided upon, sittings for photographs must be arranged, copy must be written, and lay-outs for the different sections must be planned. The sense of achievement comes, however, when the dummy is completed and the deadline is met. Being a Chimes staff member requires imagination, ingenuity, creativity. The advertising, managing, typing, photographic, sports, classes, and literary staffs all work together to complete the job.

Jane Williams, Literary Editor, Jackie Bryan, and Donna Denman explain how to count characters for running heads.

The Pfeiffer News: excellence in reporting

Working on the staff of the Pfeiffer News requires time, hard work, curiosity, and ability. In return, helping send the News to press each week gives the staff members much pleasure in sharing in a creative process, in working with people of similar interests, and in putting into practice the American ideal of free expression.

This year the Pfeiffer News had adept leadership in Karen Cash, its editor-in-chief. Editorial emphasis was journalistic integrity in an honest reflector of views concerning Pfeiffer. General staff reporters, sports writers, advertising and business managers, and typists all contributed in furnishing the campus with up-to-date news and views.

Phoenix features color print of student art work

Each spring Pfeiffer's literary and art magazine, the Phoenix, appears as a recognition and sharing of the talent of a number of men and women who are members of the college community. Scouting for this talent and seeking to encourage creative effort are the work of the Phoenix staff. The result of its search is a magazine which contains poems, plays, short stories, book reviews, and photographs of art work including paintings and sculpture which are selected by a student editorial board from work which is submitted by instructors and students.

Comprising the Phoenix staff are the chief and assistant editors, an editorial board, a business and circulation manager, business and typing staff, and a photographer.

music for every mood

The Pfeiffer College radio station, WSPC, has two primary objectives. They are to provide the students of the college with news and entertainment and to offer a level of professional training and experience in broadcasting techniques to interested students. Operating innovations for WSPC this year included an increase in broadcasting hours. The radio station broadcasted all the basketball team's away games. SGA elections were covered and each Saturday night the station, through the courtesy of WBT, carried the program "Target." For the first time in WSPC's five-year history female announcers were added. Becoming a member of its national board of directors, WSPC gained a permanent vote and full membership in the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Student self-government provides excellent educational training in addition to the opportunity for betterment of the students' position. Therefore, representing the students in their needs, desires, and hopes for Pfeiffer College is the purpose as well as the responsibility of the Student Government Association. It is also important in its promotion of the highest standards of honor and integrity in all phases of college life. Participation in national, state, and regional student government movements adds valuable experience for interested students.

Governmental units within the S.G.A. are the Executive Council, the Student Senate, the Student Administrative Judicial Committee, the Association of Women Students, the Men's Student Government Association, and the house committees. Leading the S.G.A., the Executive Council is composed of S.G.A.'s four executive officers and the presidents of A.W.S. and M.S.G.A.

The Senate is concerned with student affairs

Composing the Student Senote are two representatives from each class, two day student representatives, the vice-choirmen of the eight men's and women's dormitories, and two advisors, the Dean of Students and the Dean of Women. As the legislative branch, the Senate debates issues of current importance and expresses student opinion on these issues. It investigates student problems, makes recommendations, and enacts legislation to solve these problems.

The Senate sponsors a variety of concerts for the campus, and this year enlisted the talents of the Karl Baxer Trio, the Serendipity Singers, and Johnny Mathis. In addition, it plans and executes several convocation programs for the benefit of students and faculty.

Senator Eddie Kelly clarifies a point with President Potton.

A.W.S coordinates women's activities

Assistance with Orientation Week and with Parents' Day; sponsorship of fashion shows and a demonstration on Christmas gifts, foods, and decorations; a senior breakfast; and a speaker program constitute some of the Association of Women Students' work in social programming for all women students. The A.W.S. promotes leadership development and responsibility by conducting an annual spring officers' retreat, installation service, and a fall workshop for all interested women students. The A.W.S. Council, the coordinator of activities in the women's dormitories, is also the legislative and executive body. Its aim is to represent and to further the best interests of the women students.

regulation of conduct

The unit of Student Government serving the students most directly is the dormitory house committees. They exist in order to coordinate activities within their respective dormitories. In their concern for the general welfare of men and women students, the house committees provide social programs for the dormitories and regulate students' conduct under the authority of S.G.A. and the administration of the college. The chairman of each house committee serves on the Executive Council of the A.W.S. or the M.S.G.A. The house vice-chairmen serve on the Student Senate.

Projects in the women's dormitories this year included fashion shows and speakers on personal grooming and on social and business-interview etiquette. Men's and women's dormitories worked together on dorm decorations for Homecoming.

The purpose of the College Union is to establish guidelines and a program of activities which will serve the general welfare of all members of the college community. The activities of the Union are coordinated by the Board of Governors and its program and policy councils, for whom the most important aim is to enrich the cultural, social, and recreational life of the campus. Campus communication is an area in which the Governing Board is interested. The College Union program this year included contests in bridge, pool, chess, and ping pong; an exhibit of student art; homecoming activities; and monthly coffee hours.

Religious Emphasis Week highlights C.L.C. activities

Each Sunday evening vesper services were held in the chapel. In October there was an overnight retreat at Comp Stewart, near Charlotte. Religious Emphasis Week in November brought Dr. William Mallard of Emary University to the campus. A Social Concerns Seminar and Holy Week Services highlighted February and April. All these programs were under the direction of the Christian Life Council, the center of all campus activities of a religious nature. It exists in order to encourage Christian worship, fellowship, study, and service and to coordinate the campus Christian organization.

Chamber Singers record for radio and television

The Chamber Singers is a madrigal group directed by Dr. Richard H. Brewer. Open by invitation only, membership is designed to include the best voices and readers among students interested in music. The Chamber Singers practice for two hours each week and perform the majority of their work unaccompanied. They sing musical compositions ranging from sixteenth and seventeenth-century sacred works to contemporary secular pieces.

A portion of the Christmas concert given in the Pfeiffer Chapel was a presentation by the Chamber Singers of Christmas carols, old and new. The group also taped this performance at WRAL in Raleigh for its Christmas Eve television audience. A part of each taur concert was the Chomber Singers' performance of Regina Coeli, a four-part chorus by Mazart.

April Festival replaces May Day ceremonies

A new college examination schedule ending the spring semester early in May necessitated a cancellation of Pfeiffer's annual May Day with its court, afternoon presentation, and dance. However, because students wished to continue the tradition of the May Court ceremonies, planning for an April Festival began. The festivities honoring the senior class and taking place on an April Saturday, featured a carnival sponsored by the junior class, a reception given for the queen and her court by the sophomore class, and a dance that night, sponsored by the freshman class.

SPORTS

This year the Pfeiffer "Falcons," guided by on explosive offense, defeated all their opponents except one, U.N.C. It is interesting to note that U.N.C. scored more than half of the total points given up by the "Falcons." 1965 will long be remembered as a fabulous year for soccer at Pfeiffer College.

Teamwork is essential to the success of a soccer team, and, after watching our team in action, it was obvious that each player contributed to the winning of a game. However, there were three players who were especially outstanding: Donny Smith, David Smith, and Ross Hogstoz. These players were selected for the All-American soccer team, an honor which is quite noteworthy.

Coch Lefko and goalie John Long watch the Falcons from the sideline.

Jim Baker performs soccer ballet. The offensive team rolled up their score as defensive players held seven of the eleven opponents scoreless.

Pfeiffer Team unsurpassed in conference play

Talent, experience, and a desire for better than mediocrity formed the best soccer team in Pfeiffer history.

'65 Basketbirds have building year

The Pfeiffer Cogemen started the season with a split pre-Christmas record of 3-3. Returning players, Sherrill and Smith, with Courtney and freshman Butch Walker, led all scoring. Trouble began as injuries and scholastic difficulties plagued team success. Inexperience prevailed as freshmen were called on as an added scoring punch. The season advanced as Coach Francis Essic and '64-'65 star, Johnny Miller, saw the team combine speed, ability, and determination. Falcon fans saw better basketball and the prospect for future seasons of success as the season progressed.

Harold Williford puts it up for two points.

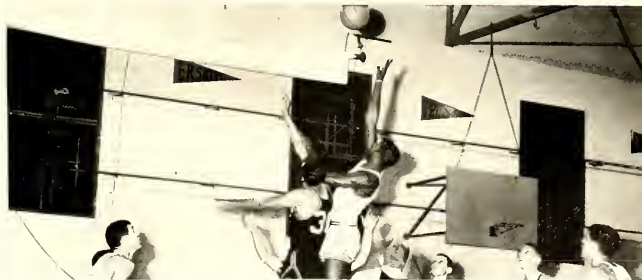

Dave Courtney hits for a total 15 against High Point.

Pfeiffer matmen

The Pfeiffer wrestlers faced their toughest opponents in Appalachian, UNC, Georgia Tech, and Old Dominion. A strong crop of freshmen added to lightweight classes but this year the team lost many of its heavier men. Chris Cardi, Steve Zimmerman, co-captains, Doug McKinzie, and Dave Crawford returned. Freshman Mike Cline started a winning college career. During Christmas holidays, the team traveled to Miami to place first in the Holiday Tournament there.

Pfeiffer's 1965 team won the Regular Season title but lost the tournament championship. The Folcons had three straight championships: 1962, 1963, and 1964.

The team was plagued with injuries, four regulars being out most of the season. Even with a team batting average of only .185, the Folcons finished on top of the Carolinas Conference with an 11-6 record, mainly due to the fine pitching of Billy Wynne and Joe Barnes. Good defensive play helped the team play winning ball.

Billy Wynne (N. Y. Mets) and Joe Barnes (Cincinnati Reds) will be missed greatly. Other regulars lost are Bob Schuck, Dean Podgett, and Bill McKinley.

Returnees from the 1965 squad are Hermon Eaker, Art Small, Hol Horrigan, Mike Hagon, Jack Cooke, Monty Montgomery, Bob Gulledge, Bob Boyd, David Sherrill, Neil Shouse and Ron Jones. New men expected to help the team are Vic Worry, Tommy Grubb, Griggie Porter, Dove Pettit, and Steve Pinkston.

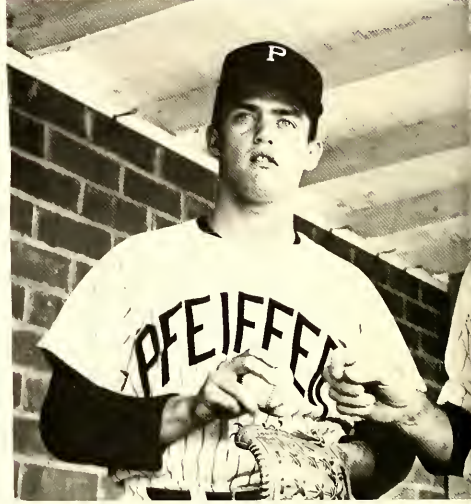

Coach Ferebee will be starting his tenth season at Pfeiffer with a record of 171 wins and 61 losses.

Pitcher and third baseman Jack Cooke steps up to the plate against High Point.

Pfeiffer starts tenth year of varsity baseball with 171 wins.

Pfeiffer students excel in sports

David Smith, Ross Hogstaz, and Danny Smith receive All-American Awards with Dr. Stokes, Mr. Lefko, and Mr. Ferebee.

The scholastic year of 1965-66 was a year of individual excellence and team brilliance in sports. The '65 baseball team captured the Corolino Conference record with 11-6. The diamond sparkled with stars Billy Wynne, All-Corolino, and Joe Bornes, All-Stote. Soccer featured three All-Americans: Ross Hogstaz, Donny Smith, and David Smith. Lorry Graves placed on the All-South team. Wrestling ran off with the Miami Christmas Tournament against such teams as N.C. Stote, Appalochion, University of Florida, and Novol Academy. Patterson, Moss, Crawford, and Zimmerman placed first, Hester, Argo, Cline, and Cordi placed second.

Pfeiffer Soccer Team wins laurels for a season record of 10-1.

All-Conference, All-State Pitcher signed with Cincinnati Reds.

Miami-Dade Trophy augments strong year for wrestling.

Lack of players plagues golf

Mike Smith, Barry Farr, and Danny Carver confer with Coach Essic before teeing off.

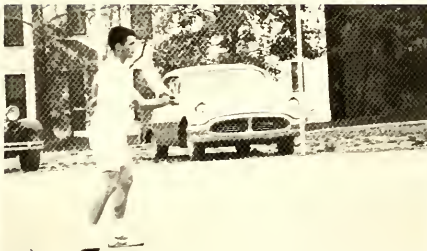

1965-1966 Pfeiffer golf suffered from a lack of players. Returning for the season were Mike Smith, Donny Carver and Captain Barry Farr. Transfer student Ben Lucas and several freshmen completed the team. Coach Francis Essic's linkmen played conference teams and entered the State tournament.

Netters defeat standing rivals

Tommy Lewis meets the ball with a strong back-hand.

With most of the Falcon tennis players returning, Pfeiffer coach Wolloce Martin's netmen turned out an impressive season. Tam Lewis, Paul Loveland, Warren Knapp, Jim Wilburn, and Bo Strain played once again this year. As well as placing high in conference standings, the Birds represented Pfeiffer in annual state tournaments.

Paul Loveland reaches with his racket to return opponent's serve.

Cheerleader spirit boosts teams,

The cheerleaders play a vital part to help varsity squads, whether on the field, diamond, mat, or court. "Sweet Georgia Brown" called students to gym pep rallies. The cheerleaders' tools are bonfires, pompons, Falcon pins, and strong voices.

encourages fans

Students, parents, and cheerleaders roar at Homecoming as the Soccer team shuts out St. Andrews, 12-0.

The cheerleaders "Go with the Falcons" during a pep rally.

Students, faculty join intramurals

Under the leadership of Coach Lefka and Mrs. Talbert, students and faculty participated in the Intramural program at Pfeiffer. Winners of the annual Mud Bowl were the Vaughn Vikings in a close game with the Tri-Panthers. A 22-21 game went all the way to the final second. Volleyball featured a faculty team with height, but also age. Girls' volleyball champs were the Mistakes. Basketball for men and women students saw fast, exciting playing. Intramural sport are a vital partian of student activities.

Seniors represent leadership, scholarship, and service

After four years of college, the senior class acquires a certain character, but paradoxically so, because that character is elusive, hard to define. The "typical" senior is, in reality, non-existent. The class, instead, is composed of individuals who came from diverse backgrounds. With broadened horizons, however, the seniors became more alike in their aspiration and determination to do something and to be someone worthwhile.

With Senior status come many new responsibilities. Among them was the assumption of leadership in the Student Government Association and in many of the other important organizations on campus. Realizing that there were no other students to look up to gave the seniors mixed feelings of pride and insecurity. "The future" is a term which suddenly acquired immediate meaning to the seniors. The time arrived for him to test the various theories and ideas he has been formulating by finding his place in a confused society. Complacent, passive living offers no challenge to the senior who has experienced the challenge of learning in a college environment. For the adventure of purposefulness the senior stands ready.

Juniors find themselves only one step from graduation

The rings which many of the juniors receive symbolize what has been accomplished and serve to remind them of goals still to be attained. They gain assurance and direction as work on their majors progresses. They begin to realize how close graduation really is and how much has been gained in the preceding two years. Juniors combine a sophomore's enthusiasm with a year's experience. During their junior year, many students receive honors and special recognitions for their service or academic excellence. The Order of the Sundial, the Phi Delta Sigma, the Alpha Psi Omega, Morshols, and other honoraries induct juniors into their membership.

With pride the sophomores realize they are one step nearer their goal. It is a year of changes, added responsibilities, and privileges. Sophomores rank among the busiest people on campus because they take advantage of the extra-curricular activities offered them. The sure, confident air of the second-year students shows that they have surmounted any difficulties presented by first-year adjustments in academic or social life. A very active, enthusiastic class, the sophomores sponsored a show-and-dance concert by the Drifters in December, 1965.

It takes freshmen only a few days after the end of Orientation Week to discover that college life is not all meetings, get-acquainted parties, and filling out forms. Very quickly caught up in the challenge of academic life at Pfeiffer College, freshmen must adjust to a new way of life. Personal ideas, ideals, and ambitions become subject to examination as each student embarks on a four-year adventure preparing for the future. The expected complaints about midnight fire drills, dining hall food, and exams come. Together as a class for the first time, freshmen strive to become a unified part of the student body. Acceptance of the responsibilities and requirements of college life brings awareness to the new students that they are an integral part of the campus. Each year the youngest class, keyed with excitement and school spirit, expands the student body, enlarges the clubs, and through its enthusiasm furthers Pfeiffer's aim of involving all interested students in the school's program.

Responsibility awakens Freshmen

I've reduced electric rates 16 times!

It's hard to imagine anything costing less today, but electricity does. In January, 1965, Duke Power made its 16th rate reduction since 1913 — the fifth in less than six years. Now the average cost of a kilowatt hour of electricity to Duke Power's residential customers is actually one-third less than 20 years ago. These rate reductions have helped Piedmont Carolinians improve their standard of living through their ever increasing use of low-cost electricity for appliances and heating.

Looking back upon the past ten months since I undertook the editorship of the Chimes, I sometimes wonder how everything was accomplished. I started with empty pages and up to the deadline it seemed as if they might stay that way. However with the help of an able staff all work was completed and the deadline met.

It was with excitement and anticipation that I began this job last spring. As I undertook this challenge, I found that unlike what some people think, editing a yearbook is much more than sitting behind a desk and dictating orders. It is work—hard work—everyday. It is working late hours, missing meals, and cutting classes. There were many rough spots, headaches, and heartaches, but there were moments of joy and laughter too. Most of all there is satisfaction and a sense of achievement at the completion of the book.

No one person can publish a book. It takes the hard work and dedication of many people. To these people I owe a personal note of thanks:

Miss Nancy Henderson — who has been both friend and advisor and who has listened and helped with problems and decisions whenever she was needed.

Anne Black — who shared the heavy load so willingly.

Jane Williams — friend and informal advisor who spent many hours writing copy and helping me with plans and decisions.

Bonnie Kirby — who along with her staff spent many hours planning and drawing layouts.

Jane Brady — for her personal help and encouragement and all the “little” things she did.

Bettie Keller and Janet Chance — for the many hours they spent typing copy, and typing and running off notices.

Ray Cottle — for his financial advice and personal help.

Barry Pate — for an excellent job of handling advertising.

Dale Patterson — for the many good pictures he spent so many hours working on.

Larry Halsey — for the excellent coverage of the sports section and for his advice and help with the remainder of the book.

Libby Crane and Frankie Cole — for the long hours of the tedious task of identifying and labeling the student pictures.

Jackie Wetherington and Judy Powell — for the hours of work on the organization section.

Mr. Bob Anderson — whose warm personality, excellent technical advice, and generosity gave me new insights in yearbook publishing.

Mr. Bill Reasonover — who so generously opened his files to me to help me with pictures and who guided and advised me.

Jerry Thrift, Terry Callahan, and Bill Fagan — who did work on almost every phase of the yearbook and were always there when most needed.

Jim Jones — who volunteered many pictures and spent hours in the Chimes room helping meet the deadline.

Betsy Huneycutt — for the hours she spent on ad layouts.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Clup, Jr. — for the use of their beautiful home.

Dr. Stakes, Administration, and Faculty — for their advice, encouragement, and cooperation.

Betty Jean Way — my roommate who put up with anger, tears, messy room, and who provided help and encouragement when I needed it most.

My Friends and Especially My Family — who provided wonderful encouragement and help when the going was rough.

The Entire Staff — who worked harder, longer, and more ably than any of the past three years.

In the actual production of the book we received valuable help from Mr. A. F. Smith; photographers, Mr. J. M. Churchill and Mr. Charles Caggins; and Mr. Frank Fleming of Delmar Printing Company. We could not have managed without their advice and long hours of professional service.

The experience of editing the yearbook has been unique and rewarding. It has been a great year, but can only be a complete one if you the students find enjoyment in these pages.

Elaine Huneycutt

There is never enough Time, in reality, to enjoy all the people and events, to think through all the new ideas, to give back enough Time to the One who gave us all of it. However, if the realization of the shortness of our Time is paralleled by a wise use of it, then we reach a quality of existence called Living.
